Re: Ian Maynard Recommendation

To whom it may concern:

I had an opportunity to work with Ian directly on several projects throughout the course of his time at Flavin Architects. He combines a sense of alacrity with a passion for design, resulting in an individual who is able to work efficiently while inherently looking for better ways to resolve design problems. Although an internship experience can be difficult and limiting, Ian approached every task with a positive outlook and energy.

Ian has determination, self-motivation, and talent that will benefit him greatly throughout his professional career and it was a privilege to be a part of his learning path.
